Overview

Murray is an established Architect and consultant for Sense Studio with over 40 years of technical expertise in architecture, dispute resolution, and the forensic investigation of building defects and their remediation. Focusing on new build housing and large-scale remediation in his earlier career, he later set up a multi-disciplinary practice. As Director, Murray managed numerous projects in forensic diagnoses of building defects and their remediation through a variety of procurement methods. Today, he remains a vital influencer, advising experts in the investigation and remediation of buildings.

Education

RIBA thesis prize in Building Technology class

Fully qualified RIBA Parts 1, 2 and 3

Architects Registration Board registration number 036854G.

Experience

Murray is an independent expert in a number of actions involving build quality. His established career was shaped by his time at Greater London Council and the National Building Agency, where he worked as an architect for large-scale housing developments.

As an Associate and later Director of a multi-disciplinary practice for a large part of his career, Murray led numerous forensic diagnosis and remediation projects for an impressive portfolio of buildings. He went on to advise an architectural firm on the failure of tanking systems, and he also reviewed the completeness of design and construction information.

Professional memberships

Murray is registered with the Architect's Registration Board (ARB).

Publications

Highly respected in his field, Murray has published several reports and books in adapting housing and offices for disabled people.
